

IRONWOMAN · THE TRIAL

What iron therapy really does for tired, iron-deficient women.

Corrected iron status. Better economy. Less fatigue.

IRONWOMAN · WHAT WE FOUND

What iron therapy changed.

CHANGED WITH IRON

-  Serum ferritin
-  Serum iron
-  Transferrin saturation
-  Running economy
-  Fatigue scores

DID NOT CHANGE

-  Peak oxygen uptake
-  Lactate threshold
-  Haemoglobin mass
-  Mood states
-  Quality of life

Iron status, economy and fatigue all improved by week 4.

IRONWOMAN · IRON STATUS

Iron therapy corrects the deficiency.

Serum ferritin, ug/L

Four weeks on, stores were still many times where they started.

WHY AN AVERAGE IS NOT ENOUGH

One dose. Fourteen answers.

Every woman on iron went up. No two by the same amount.

IRONWOMAN · WHAT IT MEANS

What to take from this trial.

THREE THINGS TO CARRY OUT OF IT

01

The tiredness lifted.

Fatigue improved

02

The gain shows up in economy.

Same pace, less oxygen

03

No two women responded alike.

73 to 508 ug/L

Measure it, treat it, then measure it again.

IRONWOMAN · FOR A WORKFORCE

What this means if you screen people.

If you screen a workforce, this trial tells you what to measure.

MEASURE

Ferritin, and fatigue

EXPECT

Better economy, less fatigue

RETEST

Because the individual response varies widely

Measure the things this trial showed move.

ONE NUMBER

The test that would have found you.

If you are tired and you have been told your bloods are normal, a full blood count is not the test that would show this.

Ask for ferritin.

One number is the difference between "you are fine" and an answer.

READ IT YOURSELF

The whole thing is open to check.
